
PRIZE RECORDS OF FAMILY FAULTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

Sir,—You were so good as to give much publicity last January to my offer of prizes. Permit me, as the last day for sending in the records has just gone by, to send you a brief estimate of the value of the response to my offer, so far as a very hasty inspection warrants. That value has far exceeded my expectations. I have received very little trash, and upwards of 150 good records of different families. Many of these are admirably drawn up; concise, full of information, and offering numerous opportunities of verification. As each of these returns refers to 14 direct ancestors of the children of the family and to many of the brothers and sisters of each of them, the mass of anthropological material may be inferred. It certainly refers to more than 5,000 persons, and as the data are all entered in my bound tabular forms, the records form a long row of thin quarto volumes, severally labelled and easily accessible. It is a unique anthropological collection. The writers are chiefly persons of the upper and middle classes of society; they are male and female in nearly equal proportions, and the two sexes write equally well, so far as I can thus far judge. The letters that accompanied the records are full and friendly, expressing a trust that I can assure them will not be misplaced of my treating the information as strictly confidential. In many cases they express the great interest that the inquiry into their own family histories has been to them. Permit me to add that I do not think it possible to determine the prizes in much less than two months, and that besides publishing the awards I propose to send a copy of them to the private address of every substantial competitor. Thanking you sincerely for the large and timely assistance you gave in making this prize offer widely known,

I am, Sir, yours obediently,

No. 42, Rutland-gate, S.W. FRANÇOIS GALTON.

PRIZE FAMILY RECORDS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

Sir,—Permit me to announce that the prize awards for the family records are now completed, and that a full account of them will be posted, I hope, on Thursday evening to each competitor. It may interest others as well as them to know that 40 persons will receive prizes of £7 each and 44 others of £5 each; but it is a matter of great regret to me that the allotted sum, and the published undertaking that no prize should be less than £5, prevent my giving prizes to at least 20 others. The competitors are of all ranks of society down to the artisan, and representatives of every rank appear in the prize list. If I were asked to specify a group that was more eminent than the rest in thoroughness, good sense, and method, I should say the Quakers, at least a dozen of whom have competed. If I had to select the most disappointing, I should say those professed genealogists whose interest centres on the direct line of male ascent and on eminent individual ancestors, and who, moreover, are too apt to limit their inquiries to such bald facts as are commonly inserted in pedigrees. Many of these have failed in responding adequately to my request for brief and vivid life-histories, for summaries and biological statements, and for equal information concerning every ancestor in the same degree. On the other hand, two of the best contributors are genealogists. The general result is that I have cause to marvel at the goodness of the contributions and at their suggestiveness; also that I see before me work that will require some years to complete.
